

Bernuminati Guidelines V1.0

Rank Structure

There are currently three ranks within the Bernuminati. Those ranks are Apprentice, Bernuminati, and Minerval; in that order. Each rank holds its own responsibilities and has its respective access to certain information; each rank acts as a clearance level within the society.

Responsibilities

Apprentice – An apprentice is given the responsibility to attend learning sessions. Apprentices are given the clearance B://A; the lowest clearance level.

Bernuminati – A Bernuminati member is someone who the Minervals believe have finished his training and is wise enough to enlist among the true ranks of the organization. Their job is to scout recruits to suggest to the Minervals and assist the Minervals in training Apprentices. Bernuminati members are given the clearance B://B.

Minerval – A Minerval is someone who has proven to be a productive and useful member within the society who is full of wisdom and knowledge. Minervals are responsible for picking out apprentices based on who the members of the Bernuminati scout out. Once the Minervals believe someone is ready to become Bernuminati they will vote on that person; a simple majority is all that is needed. A Minerval has the clearance level B://M.

Clearances

B://M – B://M clearance is the clearance given to Minervals, it has access to all information.

B://B – B://B clearance is the clearance given to Bernuminati members, it has access to most information which is not highly classified within the organization.

B://A – B://A clearance is the clearance given to Apprentices, it grants access to information needed for learning purposes.

Education

While the exact contents of learning sessions cannot be disclosed, I can disclose the topics. An apprentice will go through 6 topics to become a member of the Bernuminati. Those topics are as follows:

- Discipline and Communication
- Organization and Strategy
- Cautiousness and Endurance
- Commitment and Honor
- Decisiveness, Obedience, and Loyalty
- Knowledge. Compartmentalization, and Leadership

Becoming Minerval

When a Minerval believes that the society needs more Minervals, they can propose a vote to begin the selection process. If the vote passes unanimously, then the process begins. A Minerval can pick one person whom they feel has earned the rank. A meeting between the Minervals will be held at Minerval Hall and they will vote on each candidate. In order for a candidate to become an official Minerval, they must pass unanimously.

Punishments

There are a number of things you can do to earn a punishment, which depending on severity can get you kicked out of our society. Below are the most common examples:

- Leaking classified information to outsiders
- Leaking classified information to lower ranked individuals
- Discussing Apprentice Education with an Apprentice who has not passed the topic you are discussing.
